Seven Seniors Honored In Collegiate Directory

Notices have been received by students selected for entry in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, 1946-47. Seven seniors from St. Teresa's have been accepted from nominations made by the college president, dean, registrar, or other official member of the staff. Those selected are Marybeth Malsie, Margaret Leonard, Rosemary Flanigan, Peggy Jones, Betty Ritchie, Catherine Junker, and Rose Marie Carollo.

Marybeth, Margaret, and Rosemary were elected for the second consecutive year.

The bases of consideration for nomination are character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

In this, her senior year, Marybeth is a boarder, since her parents recently moved to Seattle, Washington. Mathematics is her major, while biology and philosophy are her minors. She was president of her class while a freshman. During her sophomore year, she was secretary of the Inter-American Commission and was secretary-treasurer of the Student Council. Editing the Teresian was Marybeth's main activity in her junior year. This year she is president of the Student Council. Playing the piano is her favorite way to spend her extra minutes.

Margaret, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Tyler, 3616 Paseo, is majoring in English and has chosen education and sociology for her minors. While a junior, she was vice-president of her class. This year she is the prefect of the Sodality. During her idle minutes, Margaret enjoys the game of bridge in which she is a winner.

Majoring in philosophy, Rosemary has English and Greek as her minors. She has had the office of vice-president of the Central Mid-west region

I.R.C. to Sponsor Three School Forum

Junior College and Rockhurst College have been invited to meet with St. Teresa's International Relations Club at a forum this evening, November 19. The topic for debate is to be "Is the U.N., as organized, capable of maintaining peace?"

Kathryn Childs, Geraldine Carrigan and Mary Pat Immenschuh will give papers explaining the various phases of the topic. Discussion will be conducted among the students from the three schools.

Faculty Attends M.S.T.A. Meetings

Members of the faculty and several of the education majors attended sessions of the 34th annual convention of the Missouri State Teacher's Association which was held in Kansas City on November 6, 7, 8.

The theory of generalized education was emphasized in nearly every lecture and spoken of approvingly by Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University. His topic at the third General Session was Education Beyond the High School.

Quentin Reynolds, prominent journalist and author, spoke from the first hand information he gained during his six years as a correspondent in the European Theater. In his lecture, Europe Today, he blamed the fall of Europe and the anti-semitic problem on the failure of teachers to educate properly.

In the field of English, Miss Alma Robison Higbee, National President of the League of American Pen Women, addressed the assembly on the Road to Prolific Writing. With Landon Laird, columnist for the Kansas City Star, she explained the method of acquiring ideas to write. Mr. Laird had as his subject Human Interest in the News. He told several amusing anecdotes about finding the material for his column.

Among the faculty members who attended the sessions regarding their various fields were: Sister Gabriel, Sister Gerard Joseph, Sister Georgianna Marie, Sister John Marie, Sister Mary Gertrude, Sister Pachomia, and Sister Rita Agnes.

Juniors to Give Dance As Thanksgiving Treat

Teresians will trot to the tunes of George Tidona's orchestra Thanksgiving night at the Sky-Hy roof of the Hotel Continental. The dance, the first formal of the year, is being sponsored by the junior class. The alumnae and former students as well as the student body are invited to attend. Tickets can be obtained from the juniors.

C.S.T. Entrant Wins Close 2nd In Book Review

Geraldine Carrigan, sophomore, merited second place in the Book Review Contest, College Division, sponsored by the Catholic Community Library. She lost by one point to Mary Joanne Wall of the Newman Club of Kansas City University.

Geraldine reviewed Edmund Campion by Evalyn Waugh. Miss Wald spoke on "The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass" by Msgr. Hellrigg of St. Louis. Also represented on the program which was held on Thursday evening November 7, was Omar Glotzbach of Rockhurst College who reviewed The Messiah by Rev. Joseph Pickl.

In returning their verdict, the judges stated that they had never witnessed a football game that had such a close finish. Out of a possible four hundred points, Miss Wald merited 345 points and was seconded by Geraldine with 344 points.

The Rev. George Ruysser, director of the CYC and master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers. Judges were Rev. John Murphy, superintendent of school, Lee J. O'Brien and Mrs. Fred Klein.

Student Assembly To Honor President On Feast Day

Student assembly on December 9 will be devoted to a program in honor of Mother Marietta's Feast Day.

Under the direction of Miss Marilyn Steuterman, speech and dramatics instructor, the Drama Workshop will present a play, The Clouds, by Zona Gale.

The cast chosen from members of the club by tryout, includes: Mary Gent, Mary Jean Burke, Marybeth Malsie, Patricia O'Leary, and Maxine Keim.

The music department will present some form of musical entertainment. Marybeth Malsie, president of the Student Association, will make the presentation speech.

Mother's feast is on December 8, the feast of the Immaculate Conception.

John Eppstein to Present Lecture On World Peace

John Eppstein, author, lecturer, and long-time student of Catholic principles of international conduct, will speak at the College of St. Teresa this morning at a special assembly.

Mr. Eppstein is touring the United States during October and November at the invitation of the publication, America. He is the author of the book Catholic Tradition of the Law of Nations, and has a recent pamphlet on One World. While in America, he is lecturing for both Catholic and general audiences on international relations and the foundations of peace.

A native of England and the son of an Anglican clergyman, Eppstein became a Catholic in 1919, received into the Church by the famed Jesuit, C. C. Martindale. In 1938, he received the medal of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences from Pius XI.

Dads Date Daughters to Traditional Banquet

Dads were feted at the annual Father-Daughter banquet held Wednesday evening, November 13 at the Hotel Continental. Approximately 150 were present when C. S. T. students dated their dads for the formal dinner.

Rockhurst and C.S.T. Have Discussion Club

Six members of St. Teresa's Confraternity together with six Rockhurst students have recently organized a discussion club to meet bi-weekly on Tuesday evenings. The pamphlet, Christ, You, and Routine is to be the theme of the discussions with Christ in everyday life as the main consideration.

Rev. Edward Freeman, S. J., is the moderator of the group. The meetings will be conducted alternately by a St. Teresa's girl and a Rockhurst man. The members from St. Teresa's are: Mary Ann Miller, Marybeth Malsie, Betty Beck, Eva Schekorra, Peggy Jones, and Margaret Leonard.

The Confraternity plans for the formation of several such discussion clubs in the near future.

Faculty members held a reception at the school immediately preceding the banquet for the guests.

Rev. J. J. Killgallon was the master of ceremonies. He recalled previous Father-Daughter banquets, and said that at these occasions, "young ladies can learn to appreciate what very fine escorts these men who are losing their hair, or at least having it change color, make."

Community singing was conducted by Mr. Harland B. Hutchings, father of Barbara Hutchings. The men men and girls joined in singing such favorites as "My Wild Irish Rose," "Smiles," and the girls chortled the oft-sung "Daddy, I Want a Diamond Ring . . . and everything." Rev. Louis Donanzan, Mary Jean Burke, and Lillian Amijo presented solo numbers by request.

Has He Planned for You?

Why? Why am I here? Did you ever ask yourself this question outside of philosophy class? In grade school you learned to chirp out the answer, "God made me to know Him, to love Him, to serve Him in this world, and to be happy with Him forever in the next." In other words to live the Divine Life to its fullness; to go to heaven and bring as many people with you as possible.

That is God's plan. He had a plan when He created our first parents. But they unhappily twisted that plan away and brought confusion into the world. To restore the Divine Plan, God instituted the Holy Roman Catholic Church. Her duty is to bring men, all men, under the sweet sovereignty of the yoke of Christ. In this way the world will again live a life of sanctifying grace and peace will once more be restored.

It is very simple. There will be peace and order when mankind accepts the sovereignty of Christ. The world must conform to Our Lord, not He to it. For centuries man has deliberately turned his back on God and His Will. Puny man has dared to defy his Maker in every way, until now the pinnacle has been reached. To retrace his steps in humility and contrition will be a continuance of life; to plunge headlong into the abyss of materialism and atom bombs is certain destruction.

— Geraldine Carrigan.

They, Too, Must Eat

When a crowd congregates in the cafeteria with the pangs of hunger gnawing at their stomachs, the rush is terrific. But then, when our appetites have been satiated and we have about twenty minutes to amble toward our next class, we should take out an extra two minutes, at the most, to stack our trays and have one person carry them toward the tray counter. Being of a philosophical bent, I see that this simple maneuver saves the work of three others. Frankly, it is very easy and why more people do not practice it is a source of amazement to the cafeteria workers.

Another thing, the Academy follows us into the cafeteria which means that there has to be sufficient tables and chairs to accommodate them. However, when we pull about seven chairs around a single table and go off, leaving them that way, the Sisters in charge must right the place so that the STA-ers will have comfort when they are eating, too.

It is a simple thing to do, a slight courtesy which is greatly appreciated. So let's not be as difficult as we can — let's all help out.

— Rosemary Flanagan.

Bringing Up Father

Now that November has again rolled around, C. S. T. is a-buzzing about the Father and Daughter Banquet. It brings back memories of the good old days when we girls had so much trouble "bringing up Father."

Poor Dad just couldn't see why we, all of a sudden, scoffed at that measly 25c allowance and now we're pleading for a small fortune of $5 a week. And my, how we had to educate Pop that we were now sixteen and just had to have the car for the local football game. Pater was so difficult when prom time came around and the question of a new formal popped up. It was hard to understand how he could even think of our being seen in last year's best formal.

Oh, how trying it was to blast midnight curfews and to explain why the big moment should be dated, but definitely! And why did Dad always threaten to have the telephone disconnected? After all, we hadn't seen the girls since three that aft. Why was it he always groaned and said, "Oh, not again" when we played the latest Frank Sinatra record? He never did seem to understand why we just had to have an extension on the allowance when a new Van Johnson movie was in town. And why was it that at dinnertime all was explained about details of the charming daughter's whereabouts to take place that evening and not a word said until daughter saunters upon the scene dressed fit to kill and takes the fatal step toward the door, then he appears from behind the evening paper and calmly inquires, "You — ah — going somewhere? H'mmm?"

"Life with Father" has been fun though, and we think he's a pretty swell Dad. Why we even had a date with him last Wednesday night. Say, and did we have fun!

Library Makes Additions

Eighteen thousand books was the goal set by the library for its circulation total, and the rapidly growing library has now reached that goal. The seven most recently acquired books are listed below:

Building Your Personality—Hattie Marie Marsh.

The Trinity—The Unicity of the Intellect—St. Thomas Aquinas.

This Fascinating Radio Business—Robert J. Sandry.

The Absolute Weapon—Edited by Bernard Brodie.

Reveille for Radicals—Saul Dolinsky.

America's Place in the World—Nathaniel Pepper.

Nuernberg Trials and An Aggressive War—Sheldon Gluec.

Alumnae Association Introduces Sons and Daughters at Party

Children were entertained by the St. Teresa's Alumnae at a party held Sunday afternoon, October 13, the first of its type sponsored by the alumnae. Entertainment for the afternoon consisted of a scavenger hunt and a "Punch and Judy" show, given by Mrs. James Hughes. There were attendance prizes and refreshments. Chairman of the party was Mrs. Jack Clifford, Jr., and co-chairman, Mrs. Joseph Geisel; they were assisted by Mmes. Harland Hutchings, Maurice O'Sullivan, George Meiners and James Hughes, and Misses Teresa Kouba, Jo Ann Hickey, Kathleen Ryan, and Margaret O'Reilly.

Marriages —

Marguerite Lodde, '35, to Thomas F. Casey, Jr., Saturday, November 9, at St. Elizabeth's Church.

Nellie Lu Clark, '40, to Ray Roscoe Rice, Jr., Saturday, November 23, at St. Peter's Church.

Births —

Daughter, Mary Constance, to Mr. and Mrs. Craig Whitaker, October 20. Mrs. Whitaker was Mary Oxler, a sophomore in '43.

Daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mathews. Mrs. Mathews was Kathleen O'Connor, '43.

Travel —

Mrs. James Neenan, the former Helen Dierks, '44, with her children, Michael and Kathleen, has joined her husband, Lieutenant Commander James Neenan, U. S. N., in New London, Conn.

Dolores Riley, '44, continues to do big things for TWA. She has attended conventions in Wyoming, New York, Chicago, and elsewhere. At present, she is in California.

Sympathy —

To Mrs. John Francis (Anna Marie Ryan, '37) at the death of her mother.

To Mary Jane Gibbons, '38, at the death of her father.

Religious —

Sister Arthur Inez, C. S. J. (Catherine Ann Murphy, '35), is working in the office at St. Joseph's Hospital, and Sister James Patrice, C. S. J. (Mary Elizabeth Brown, '35), is working in the blood bank at the same hospital.

Sister Agnes Cecile, C. S. J. (Betty Hickox, '35), is teaching sociology at Fontbonne College in St. Louis, and Sister Agnetta, C. S. J. (Betty Murphy, '39), is teaching art at the same college.

Sister Jarleth, C. S. J. (Dorothy McManus, '35), is teaching English at Rosati Kain High School, St. Louis.

I.A.C. Entertains Exchange Students

On October 30, the Midwest Regional Commission on Inter-Americanism of the N. F. C. C. S. sponsored a program entitled "Saludos Amigos" to welcome the Inter-American students to St. Teresa's.

The girls honored were Mercedes de la Espriella and her sister Alicia Espriella from Colombia; Elsa Leon and her sister Carlota Leon from Guatemala; Graciela Balda and her sister Nelly Balda and Juliette Freile from Ecuador.

Speeches on the program were all delivered in Spanish. Speakers were Emma Rocha, Rose Mary Ibarra, Caroline Borne and Catherine Borne. A piano solo Las Mananitas was played by Regina Kilkenny. Lillian danced. Graciele Balda responded to Armijo sang El Amor and then the speeches expressing a sincere appreciation of the Spanish speaking students for the program in their honor.

Mr. Alfonso Armijo, father of Lillian, was guest speaker on the program. Mr. Armijo had been in the consul of Columbia for a number of years. He spoke on the American Foreign Service and also talked about the Santa Fe Trail and General

Introducing C.S.T. Personalities

Which is which? That is the question. The subject, of course is the Borne twins, Caroline and Catherine, who consistently puzzle people as to who is Caroline or Catherine. Coming from Higginsville, Missouri, where they attended Higginsville High School, the twins are talented painters, and have won many prizes on their art work.

In their freshman year at high school, Caroline entered Regional Contest and won second prize in tempera painting. The next year Caroline won first prize, and Catherine second. These paintings went to Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh, where they received honorable mention and complimentary awards, respectively. Their paintings, Caroline's a character study, and Catherine's a pirate scene, then went to Madison Square Garden, New York, in the Women's National Contest.

In their junior year, they rated among the ten best in the High School Regional Contest.

Last year in the contest for Catholic schools, Caroline again ranked first and Catherine second, in the college division.

During the past summer, the twins did an original painting of the Presentation of the Lord Jesus in the Temple to be hung over the baptismal font at St. Aloysius' Church.

JUST RECORDED

Popular Albums: America's number one pianist, Art Tatum, gives unequalled Piano Impressions, in his new album of that name by A.R.A. Tatum really gives out with the music in his newest renditions. Especially selected, the album contains, "Memories of You" and "Lover," with several really terrific versions of his own specialties.

Another album on the bright and dreamy side is Hoagy Carmichael's latest by A.R.A.; in it is the immortal "Stardust," which he wrote in fifteen minutes we've heard! Included also, are: "Sleepy Time Gal" and "Sweet Lorraine," both sung in the individualistic style of the one and only Carmichael.

Rather different in its appeal, the Stork Club album has recordings of the most requested tunes in the Stork Club. Cut by Columbia the orchestrations by Sonny Kendis are typical night-club music. Given as favorites are: "Stardust," "My Daddy," "My Blue Heaven" and "Dica Dica Da."

Popular records: As usual, the King Cole Trio is in perfect harmony for their version of "The Best Man" and "For Sentimental Reasons," new records out by Capitol.

Just for the Stan Kenton's fans is "Intermission Riff" and "It's a Pity to Say Goodnight," a disc in the familiar Kenton manner, also by Capitol.

Frankie Carle does a neat job of Capitol's "Without You" and "Rumors Are Flying," as only he and his piano can.

Classical

Albums: Peer Gynt Suite No. 1—Edvard Grieg. Victor Red Seal albums.

In January 1874, Norway's great playwright, Henrik Ibsen, wrote a letter to Edvard Grieg, even then regarded highly as a composer. He stated that he intended to arrange Peer Gynt for performance on the stage and wanted Grieg to write the music. The, then 31-year-old Grieg immediately snapped up the enticing offer and wrote the delightful music for Ibsen's fantasy that still thrills concert goers.

The suite opens with Morning Mood, the Prelude to Act IV of the play. Standing alone in the African desert before the statue of Memnon, Peer Gynt waits for the dawn and the statue's legendary song. The second movement, The Death of Aase, Peer's aged mother, is mournful and nostalgic.

The exotic Anitra, daughter of a North African Bedouin chief, performs before Peer her dances, which constitutes the third movement. The finale, In the Hall of the Mountain King, shows us Peer Gynt being tormented by the trolls and goblins after he had attempted to make love to the Troll King's daughter.

Guest Foresees Coming Air Age

As the guest of the International Relations Class, Dr. O. Etzel Percy, head geographer at TWA, addressed the assembly on Tuesday, October 29. He spoke on Air Age Geography and explained how it affects cultural development and social life.

"The airplane began as a novelty. In the years before the war it was a luxury and soon the time will come when it will be a utility," Dr. Percy said. "It is a factor of speed and of surface that will change habits and revolutionize economic life."

Tracing the development of the airplane, Dr. Percy cited seven periods in its progress from the time in 1917 when the airplane was branded by Congress as "a new fad" to the present day period of expansion and transcontinental airlines that make every part of the world accessible.

Dr. Percy was formerly a professor at Missouri University in Columbia, Mo. He is now a resident of New York City.

Represent Teresian At National Meet

Joan Nikolai and Dolores Jette represented the Teresian at the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago, October 23-26. Attending were 428 delegates, representing 31 states, but St. Teresa's was the only college from Missouri represented.

The following is a report of the views of the girls aside from the conferences attended:

Dear Gals:

Well, here we are back from the Windy City, ready to tell you all about it, start to finish.

The pullman was wonderful—our first experience of this kind. Before we could go down to the train the officials had to check our passes. When he didn't return Joan's, she was sure we would be put off ten miles out from nowhere; however, we spent an uneventful night and reached Chicago at 7:30 a. m.

We were met by Joan's aunts, and started whistling for a taxi. Now don't think this is as simple as it sounds. In the big city you get down on your knees to beg the driver to take you, and nine times out of ten, he says "NO!" (We did get one, finally.)

Going to the convention (which was wonderful!) the first day, we had the misfortune to ride a streetcar. Unlike the cab, one of these soon came along, and the driver was quite willing to give us a ride—providing we could get on. Instead of stopping at our corner, he merely threw us a long rope and pulled us on. Once on our feet we paid our fare and attempted to move back a step—unsuccessfully. One good thing about this, though, was that we didn't have to worry about falling.

Hard as it was to board, getting off was ten times worse. Not being used to Chicago, we rang the bell only a half block before our stop, and tried to get off. We're not saying that they deliberately refused to wait, but before we reached the door we were two blocks farther on. (In all fairness to Chicagoans, we should mention that the busses were on strike at the time.)

After the convention on Saturday, we went through the Stevens, Palmer House, and Congress Hotels. At the Stevens we visited the Southern Room, where Dolores spilled the contents of her purse all over the floor. Anything for a little attention!

We left for home Saturday night, again by pullman, and arrived in K.C. Sunday morning. Before closing, we want to tell you we really thoroughly enjoyed the whole trip and hated to leave a wonderful city!

Love,

Joan and Dolores

Dear Dream-bait:

The time has come when all b.g.'s have on their minds but one thing—a new formal (or two). Since so many dress-up occasions are coming up, the father-daughter banquet, the turkey trot, the homecomings, and the Christmas dances, I thought I'd devote this letter to some of the elegant formals.

All the season's formals are out of the fairy-tale books; they are dreamy, lush, fantasies that give one that wonderful indescribable feeling of being so-o-o gorgeous and sophisticated!

The fabrics are out of this world—from filmy net, marquisette, and chiffon to heavy luxurious taffeta, faille, and even brocade. The former will be made with great sweeps of skirts, some with hoops and bustles, the latter will have full skirts, bustles, and oversized peplums. For trimmings there'll be feathers, plumes, sequins and for some fur there's black velvet with ermine tails, white or cream brocade with mouton or muskrat trimming. So many have drop shoulders, and very tiny sleeves if any at all. All call for a tiny waistline and a beautiful pair of shoulders.

So give Dad and the b.f. the thrill of seeing you decked out in your most precious jewels, sheerest nylons, furs (joke) and Platine or White Shoulders and have a perfect time!

Yours,
Maggi

On the Town

Kansas City will be host to a number of distinguished musicians, actors and artists during the coming month. In order of the dates of their appearances, they include:

November 23, Father Flanigan's Boys' Town Choir, directed by Father Francis Schmitt, will present a program for the public to hear the voices of 35 boys ranging in ages from 12 to 18.

November 25, Don Cossack chorus and dancers, conducted by Serge Jaroff, offer their famous Russian entertainment.

November 26-December 1, Skating Vanities of 1947, the roller-skating gals, in a colorful pageant of rhythm and music.

November 26-27, fourth program of the Kansas City Philharmonic, Mozart's Symphony in C, the Second suite from "Daphnis and Chloe" by Ravel, and the Bruch violin concerto in G minor with Erica Morini as soloist, will be played.

November 29, Rudolph Serkin, pianist, and Fritz Busch, violinist, will give a concert of renowned music.

December 10, the Fritschy concerts will present Eugene List, young soldier pianist, who played before the Big Three at the Potsdam conference.

Odds and Ends Around the Campus

C. S. T. girls have become regular globe trotters during the past few weeks.

Mary Margaret Schorgl has just returned from a trip to New York. Three weeks in the big-big city seems not to have affected her materially since her height still hovers around five feet.

Returning from the Associated Press Convention in Chicago, Dolores Jette and Joan Nikolai report that they left Chicago just as they found it, very windy including the loop.

Another convention—more C. S. T. girls. Rosemary Flanigan and Bobby Jean Schmidt enjoyed the N. F. C. C. S. (if there were more letters in the alphabet we'd use them) which was held at Wichita.

Freshmen pulled their traveling record way out in front of the other classes with Pat Seymour's visit in St. Louis, and Janie McInerney's recent week-end in Topeka. After visiting one of her sisters in Dubuque, Iowa, and another in Milwaukee, Dody McKinley has come back rarin' to go again.

It certainly is funny how some people who claim they can't sing like music so much that they spend their evenings carrying two-ton phonographs up and down Walnut Street. All apologies to the Murphy clan.

Hallowee'en found Babs Hutchings entertaining with a very spooky party, thanks to Mary Katherine Gilwee. Reverend Mother Beezie Norris was also there. In fact all the classes were represented except the seniors who did all right on their own.

Since the Hawk started hatching every two weeks, we've been wondering how they ever find so much copy. It's a good thing they have a football team, a faculty and the Teresian to help them out. P. S. A conflict consists in being enrolled for two classes which meet at the same time. You know we had a little difficulty in understanding the Hawk's jargon, especially the sports column until we found that one of the lines was upside down. For a while it looked like one of their famous cheers. At the football games we learned that nearly every student knew how to spell R-o-c-k-h-u-r-s-t.

Tid-Bits

In looking over our exchanges, the staff came upon the following articles which they found particularly apt:

"Freshman: I don't know.

Sophomore: I'm not prepared.

Junior: I don't quite understand the question.

Senior: I don't believe I can add anything to what has already been said."

— The Prospector.

YE EDITOR'S LAMENT

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are serious.

If we clip things from other papers, We are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we don't we are too fond of our own stuff.

If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius.

If we do print them, the paper's full of junk.

If we make a change in other people's writeups, we are too critical.

If we don't — we are asleep.

Now, like as not, someone will say we swiped this from some other paper.

Well, they are absolutely CORRECT!

— Sajoac.

Beware South Bend! C. S. T. girls were well represented at the Notre Dame vs. Northwestern game. Among those lucky ones were Maxine Keim, Toots Baty, Tess Browne, Virginia Gaines, and Elaine and Cathleen Crooks.

On behalf of the poor unfortunate member of the Hawk staff, with compassion in our hearts and mercy as our motive, we wish to plead for leniency. Flay him, have him drawn and quartered and burned in oil but for heaven's sake don't lop off his fingers or he will be unable to type his column to help make the Hawk the excellent piece of journalism it is. It should really be recommended. It finally got a staff.

Big Date of the Month—the Father-Daughter Banquet. It was one night when Dad didn't wait up with a base ball bat.

Bobby Fritton, our senior who succeeded (Rose Marie, too), has recently announced the big news of her engagement. Congratulations Bobby and as they say across the sea "Bonne Chance."

And now we will leave you with you over until we meet again—next gleamings of the Turkey Trot to tide issue.

Quiz-Quotes

By Betty Ritchie

Timely Topic—What do you think about the Republican majority in Congress?

Time—November 6 and 7.

Place—Campus, Science Building, Music and Arts Building, and "07."

Answered Eva Schekorra, senior, a sociology major, in a serious vein: "I think it very inopportune; yet such a change is the usual condition in a post war period."

Betty Beck, junior, major in biology, after a long silence replied: "The Republicans now have an opportunity to lead the nation. The Democrats, who have had control for so long, have been termed inefficient by many people. Let's see if the Republicans are able to do better."

Sophomore Rosemary Kelly, an art major, retorted: "It seems it was inevitable, but it places President Truman in a very difficult situation."

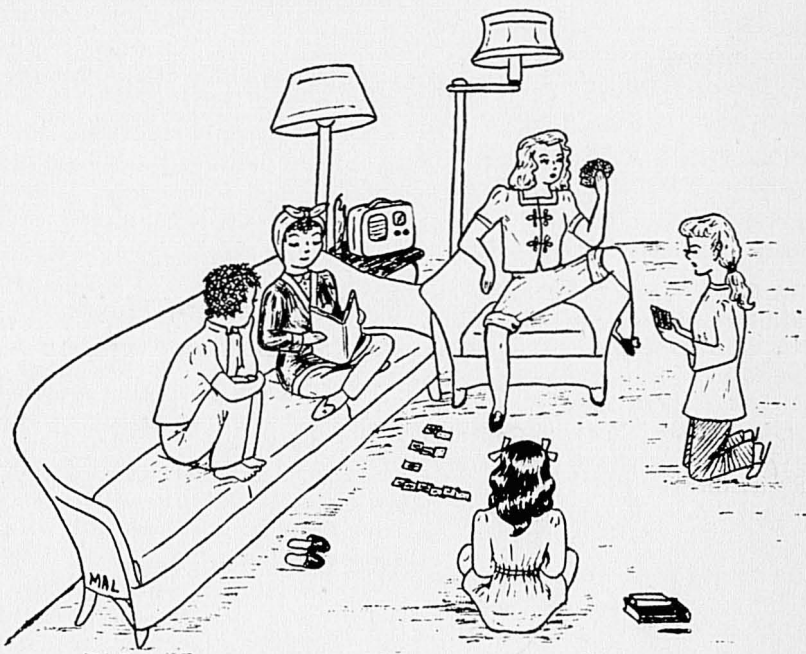

Switching from such a controversial subject, this reporter selected a non-political question, yet one not without merit: How many prongs are there on an ordinary fork?"

Puzzled Maria La Salla, senior: "Five?"

Confused Mary Gent, junior: "Five."

And confused freshman Mary Lou Ellsworth: "Four."

Target Tess Checks Up On All the Boarders

Four long weeks have come, have been entertained, and have crept back into the calendar for another year since the Teresian has rolled off the press. During that time Target Tess has gathered some news she's dying to pull out of that magic bag of hers so we'll let her take the pen and give her a chance to open up.

Hello, and am I in one huge dither. I met Graciela Balda and Elsa Leon in the hall a week or two ago and accused them of talking in Greek, but they insist it was Spanish!

I have perfectly sound rumors that Jeanne Timmons, with the aid of Columbia and its jammed M. U., had wonderful days the past holy day week-end. Mary Hughes, the other partner of the Hughes-Timmons ensemble had a roaring time with Betty Beck the same said week-end and has another one planned soon.

You know, I get very lonesome over these "student welcomes holidays" affairs so Kilroy, Smo, and I stowed away to Trenton with Barbara Luckett and Jeanne Cowles, who were guests of Joy and Jeanne Friday.

Envious me! Betty Jo Wilson seems to leave every Friday at 4:00 and her brown tresses aren't seen bobbing along until 8:00 p. m. Sunday or later.

There's been a constant question twirling and whirling in my bemuddled mind and I'll put it in black and white—What vow holds Marybeth Malsie to her room instead of "07" after dinner? Two-to-one it's that little lost thing called "will-power."

Peering through the rain-speckled windows one Saturday night, I nearly fell in the window of Betty Gilmore's room Talking of the home-town and old times with her was Nan Gilmore, one-time student at C. S. T., whom I knew well. After a little "Picking-up-of-pins" outside I discovered that she is a registered nurse in Peoria.

Among the others going home various week-ends were Shirley Brandt, Joan and Marilyn Morris, Caroline and Catherine Borne, Gerry Poepsil, Margaret Young, and Mary Jane Winfrey. Mary Elizabeth Schutey helps keep me wide awake during lazy days with her cheerful steps sounding in the halls. This I can always depend on.

Before I sign off for another spell of sneaking, peaking, and reeking in the rooms, closets, and cracks, I want to ask what those little noises are that take place about three times a week between 9:30 and 10:00—kind of hushed tones and tip-toe steps. It's even got me confused,

'Bye.

Our banner—proud symbol of all we hold dear. By looking at its purple and gold insignia, we are reminded of many things. Fond memories, promises of things to come, the debt we owe to our parents, classmates, and ourselves, become realities. One word, always spoken in reverent tones expresses the sentiment we have for St. Teresa's, our Alma Mater.

N.F.C.C.S. Delegates to Convention

Rosemary Flanagan, vice-president of the Central Midwest Region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, represented the College at the regional meeting of the N. F. C. C. S., which was held at the Sacred Heart Junior College, Wichita, Kansas, on October 26. Also attending the convention were Rose Marie Carollo, as senior delegate, and Bobby Jeanne Schmidt, as junior delegate.

With the Sacred Heart College as host, there were eight colleges represented from Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska: Marymount College, Salina; College of St. Mary, Omaha; St. Mary's College, Xavier; Creighton University and Sacred Heart Junior College, Omaha; Mount Saint Scholastica and Saint Benedict's, Atchison; and the College of St. Teresa.

An outline of the regional projects for the year was given by the chairman of each regional commission.

Through the Inter-American Commission and Missions of the College of St. Teresa, plans have been made to aid war relief. This is the national project of the N. F. C. C. S., selected at the national congress held in Boston, June, 1946.

Plan Redecoration In Smoking Room

Plans are being formulated for the redecoration of "The Smoker." Mary Gent and Gloria Gilford are in charge of the improvements to be made. Their plans include painting the walls and decorating them with murals, and in obtaining rugs for the floors. It is hoped that "O7" may be made a comfortable room for relaxation between and after classes. When the redecoration has been completed, the co-operation of the student body will be needed in maintaining the room as an extra lounge.

daughters, saying that "anything I could conjure to express our pride in our daughters would be wholly inadequate."

Reverend Richard J. Schumaker, the main speaker of the evening, remarked that "date with Dad is a heavy date." He discussed the value of a Catholic education and the Father-Daughter banquet, "truly something representative of a Catholic institution."

Msgr. Thomas B. MacDonald briefly reviewed the history of St. Teresa's and the tradition of the Father-Daughter banquets.

Student Council Holds Round Table on Manners

Etiquette was the basis of a round-table discussion at the monthly meeting of the Student Association. Student Council president, Marybeth Malsie introduced the topic and each of the officers gave a short talk on a pertinent subject.

"The big thing we're missing out on is gratitude," said Rosemary Flanagan, as she brought out the fact that we rush to light vigil lights before our exams, and the oratory is abandoned when they are finished.

Mary Katherine Gilwee brought out the fact that moderation in clothes is always right. Helen Fortin talked on manners in the street and in public places, basing her talk on Emily Post's book, Etiquette.

Drama Workshop Accepts Members

Formal initiation for the freshmen who had been accepted into the Drama Workshop was held in the lounge on October 28 at 7:30 p. m. The president, Gloria Galvin; vice-president, Cathleen Crooks; secretary, Mary Jean Burke; and treasurer, Mary Regina Francis each gave a short speech on the schedule planned for the year. At the end of the performance, the new members extinguished their lighted candles to acknowledge full membership.

After the business at hand was closed, Miss Steuterman, accompanied by Marybeth Malsie, sang. After the refreshments were served the first formal meeting came to a close.

Guild Holds Night Party

St. Teresa's Guild will hold a card party in Donnelly Hall on Tuesday, December 3, at 8:00 p. m. Mrs. Fred C. McConnell, chairman, and Mrs. Daniel R. Ryan, co-chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. John W. Murphy, Maurice Carroll, and Herbert Ziegler as hostesses and by the mothers of the college and academy juniors. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

Sophs Win in Five Inning Game

Upholding their honor as "the undefeated baseball champs of C. S. T.," the sophomores were victorious over the freshmen in an exciting game played October 23. Leading throughout the entire five innings, the sophs were the winners with a score of 14 to 7.

The following girls composed the sophomore team: Helen Fortin, Catherine Tristano, Caroline and Catherine Borne, Gerry Carrigan, Shirley Brandt, Madeline Fronke, Jean Stephanz and Gloria Sutter.

The freshman team consisted of: Jean Cowles, Madeline Kennebeck, Ruth O'Gara, Betty Gilmore, Anna Marie Pusateri, Mary Schild, Dody McKinley, Rosemary Ibarra, Pat Seymour, and Jean Murphy.

Kearney's acquisition of that territory for the United States, the centennial of which was held in Santa Fe a short time ago ago. Mr. Armijo was the organizer of that celebration and responsible for its success.

Passionist Here to Organize Club

Father Howard Ralenkatter, a Passionist, addressed the student body of the college at an assembly period on October 18. The essence of his talk was the great need of more vocations to the religious life. Father emphasized the fact that many girls are called by God to embrace "the life of perfection," but few heed the invitation.

Father Howard, C. P.

Following Father's talk, an organizational meeting was held for the Good Counsel Club. This is not to be a vocation club, but rather a means of acquainting the members of the club with the history, customs, and rules of the various religious communities for women. It will also provide a survey of the work of each community, and the plans specified by the church for their functioning.

Sister John Marie was chosen to moderate the Good Counsel Club. Elizabeth Norris was elected president, and Mary Hughes holds the office of secretary. Meetings are scheduled for the last Monday of every month at 10:20.

A committee will be selected to decide what religious orders or communities will be discussed, and then individuals will report on them. Plans are being made whereby the members of the Good Counsel Club will furnish the library with pamphlets and general information on the contemplative and active religious congregations.

Seniors to Who's Who

of the National Federation of Catholic College Students for the past two years. This year, she is vice-president of the C. S. T. Student Council and is a member of the Good Counsel Club and the Dramatic Workshop. In her third year at St. Teresa's, Rosemary was secretary of the International Relations Club and was business manager of the Teresian. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Flanagan, 305 East 43rd Street. Rosemary spends many of her spare moments working crossword puzzles.

Peggy, a daughter of Mr. T. S. Jones of 419 West 61st Street, is majoring in philosophy. Her minors are English and sociology. Peggy is the president of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade. While a junior, she was vice-prefect of the Sodality and president of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. As a favorite pastime, Peggy likes to bake chocolate-chip cookies—and eat them.

Sociology is the major of Betty and her minors are history and philosophy. This year, she is the president of the International Relations Club. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Ritchie, who reside at 3247 Euclid. Betty finds travel her most interesting and exciting hobby.

Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Junker has mathematics as her major and chemistry and philosophy as minors. In her junior year she was secretary-treasurer of Sigma Chi Iota, the science club. This year she is the president of the same club. Catherine likes to read for her pastime.

Rose Marie Carollo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Carollo of 453 West 68th Terrace, is majoring in sociology and minoring in home economics and philosophy. Last year she was junior delegate from C.S.T. to the N. F. C. C. S. This year she is the senior delegate of the same federation. While a freshman she was president of the Dramatic Club. Rose Marie is now the treasurer of the senior class.

Each girl chosen is to send a biographical sketch of herself to the publication, with her chief interests and talents.

Freshmen Receive Magazine Prizes

Ann Ulricksen, winner of the controversial article, "Is the day of the self-made man gone forever?" received one dollar from The Queen's Work. Her reply appears in the November issue of the publication: "The door of fortune is opening for the self made man in India, Burma, and China. The new markets present new frontiers of enterprise to those with a little initiative and imagination."

Grace McQueeny was winner of the "Adult Catholic Education" discussion in the November issue, and she too, received one dollar. Florine Sheely finished the story "The Mad Russian Goes in at Full" for a third prize of two dollars. Margaret Young won one dollar for her response to the controversial article.
